1. Frequently Asked Questions

Capitalized terms used herein but not defined shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in the Fund's registration statement.

Q: What dates are important?

Record Date:	May 9, 2018
Subscription Period:	May 10, 2018 to May 29, 2018
Expiration Date:	May 29, 2018

Q: What is a Rights Offering?

- A rights offering has historically been an effective method to raise additional capital. It allows current Shareholders to purchase additional common shares at a preset subscription price, which is typically set at a discount to the Fund's recent trading price.

Q: How are rights distributed?

- Each Shareholder is given the "right" to purchase additional shares based on the number of shares owned as of a defined date (the "Record Date"). In this particular rights offer, Record Date Shareholders will receive one Right for each outstanding whole common share held on the Record Date. Each Right entitles the holder to purchase one new common share for every three Rights held (1-for-3).
- For example, if a Shareholder owned nine shares, he/she would receive nine Rights and be entitled to purchase up to three additional shares.

Q: What if a Shareholder is issued less than three Rights or the Rights received by a Shareholder are not evenly divisible by three?

- A Record Date Shareholder who is issued fewer than three Rights may subscribe, at the Subscription Price (defined below), for one full Share.
- Rights received by a Shareholder that are not divisible by three should be rounded down to the nearest multiple of three to determine the number of Shares a holder is entitled to purchase.
- For example, if a Shareholder received eight Rights, he/she would be entitled to purchase up to two additional shares.

Q: Can a Shareholder purchase additional Shares in excess of the Rights issued to him/her?

- The offering includes an “over-subscription privilege” where a Shareholder who fully exercises all of his or her rights has the “privilege” to “over-subscribe” for additional shares. The over-subscription privilege is usually subject to allotment and shares will be distributed on a pro rata basis if the over-subscription allotment does not satisfy all over-subscription requests.
- For example, if a Shareholder received eight Rights and exercised those Rights to purchase an additional two shares of common stock, the Shareholder would have the opportunity to purchase additional Shares through the over-subscription privilege.

Q: What is the Subscription Price of the Rights Offering?

- The subscription price per common share will be determined based upon a formula equal to the lesser of (1) 95% of the Fund’s reported net asset value, or (2) 95% of the average of the last reported sales price of the Fund’s common shares on the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) on May 29, 2018 (the “Expiration Date”) and on each of the four trading days preceding the Expiration Date.

Q: Will the Rights be transferable?

- The Rights are non-transferable and may not be purchased or sold. Rights not exercised will expire without residual value at the close of business on the Expiration Date.

Q: Are there transaction costs related with the rights offering?

- Shareholders will not be charged a fee if they subscribe directly through the subscription agent (American Stock Transfer & Trust Company, LLC). However, certain brokerage firms may charge a fee to exercise rights. Please consult your Financial Advisor or brokerage firm for applicable fees.
- The expenses related to the Offer are expected to be approximately $250,000 (assuming the Offer is fully subscribed) which will be borne by the Fund. The expenses include, but are not limited to the expenses, of preparing, printing, and mailing the prospectus and rights subscription materials and fees assessed by service providers. NexPoint Advisors, L.P. believes that the potential benefits and strategic uses of the additional equity raised through the Offer outweigh these expenses. The potential benefits and strategic uses are discussed in more detail below.

Q: How long does a Shareholder have to exercise their rights?

- The rights offering will be open for subscriptions from May 10, 2017 through May 29, 2018. Instructions on how to subscribe are described at the end of the FAQ and are further detailed in the Prospectus.

Q: Will Shareholders be diluted?

- Shareholders who fully exercise their rights will not experience any dilution to the value of their current investment as a result of the rights offering. Dilution may be experienced by Shareholders who do not fully exercise their rights as a result of the issuance of new shares below the then-current net asset value. A Shareholder may avoid dilution by fully subscribing to the rights offering.

Q: How does a Shareholder participate in the Rights Offering?
